

PRESS RELEASE

Vanessa's role adds value

A new senior appointment has been made to reinforce the importance of 'added value' to the Butters offering.

Vanessa Glockling brings years of buying experience with major national retailers including Tesco, Argos, Mothercare, and Homebase to her new role as Senior Buyer for Dry Goods.

She will also draw on the training she undertook during a year off in 2003/4, when she completed a one-year National Certificate in Horticulture at Capel Manor College, and subsequently ran her own gardening business and retail consultancy.

Vanessa says: "I am delighted to have the opportunity to work for a supplier after being on the retail side."

And whilst pots and packaging may be a whole new product category for her, Vanessa says she will use similar buying disciplines to those she has developed over the years in sourcing everything from toys to electricals.

"It's certainly an exciting time to be joining Butters. The company is already very well respected for its products and service. I and the team will be looking to further develop our procurement and stock management processes to meet the company's strategic objectives."
